

Help Kids Go Back to School

For most people, back to school shopping is a task that can easily be checked off a to-do list. For impoverished children in Mexico, it's a luxury.

The team at Operation Devolver, an offshoot of Project Boon, is distributing backpacks, school supplies, food and basic household items to families in need during several upcoming trips to Tuxpan, Mexico.

Every little bit helps so if you are able, please donate what you can to help these kids get the education they deserve.
